INTRODUCTION

Replas (Recycled Plastic Products) is Australia's leading plastic recycling product manufacturer. They produce over 200 products from recycled soft plastics and are committed to reducing the amount of plastic currently going to landfill. They have developed world leading technologies to reprocess waste into robust, long-lasting, recycled plastic products for outdoor use. Replas can mix a variety of raw materials to create a large range of colour options.

The products offer an ethical alternative to the unnecessary use of virgin materials and precious natural resources, and provide long-lasting advantages to customers and our environment. The benefits of recycled plastic include: slip-resistance, do not require painting, resistance to termites, microorganisms and moisture, and will never split, rot, crack or need painting.

With more than 25 years of experience, Replas strongly believes it is playing its part towards creating a better environment for the future.

DESCRIPTION OF PROJECT AND TASKS

Replas have become a far more well-known brand recently due to exposure from a television series regarding the environment. Prior to this, their most common clients were local council and government departments. Their business is expanding and they require a new visual identity that will appeal to a wider audience.

Their target audience will still include local councils and government departments — but will also need to appeal to middle to high income families, as well as international government organisations. All audiences are concerned with the environment and require durable, long lasting products which can endure challenging environments (for example: they may be close to salt water, or in hot climates).

Tasks:

1. Create a logo
2. Create a 16 page style guide (brand guidelines booklet)
3. Create a series of three postcards
